

THE ROMANS HAVE NEVER BEEN SO CLOSE!

A visit to Carnuntum brings the Romans back to life: architectural masterpieces, romantic ruins and valuable treasures – and all this only half an hour by car from Vienna and Bratislava. Uniquely throughout the world, the basic types of architecture in a Roman city quarter have been reconstructed in Carnuntum in their historical context: a citizen's house, a splendid city mansion and public baths. The reconstructions are not fictitious sets or museum objects, but buildings that can be lived in. The rebuilding itself was mostly carried out using ancient craftsmen's technology and done by hand. All building measures and furnishing details are based on archaeological evidence and are not speculation. In the year 2011 the discovery of the only known, typical gladiator school dating from Roman times was an archaeological world sensation. As a result the theme of "Gladiators" became the focus of increased scientific research.

Our aim is to impart intellectually stimulating knowledge to our guests.

As part of the tours throughout the complex with one of our guides, every visitor will have the opportunity to look at and understand science and Roman culture. With so many possible themes, we have put together an exclusive choice of exciting, informative and entertaining programmes – from the classical tour to active programmes:

A combination of an one-hour tour in the Open Air Museum Petronell and an one-hour tour in the Museum Carnuntinum. (CARNUNTUM FOR ADVANCED) or a visit to the Gladiator school in the form of a virtual tour at the original site. (CARNUNTUM FOR SPECIALISTS).

INFORMATION ABOUT THE LOCATION

The house of Lucius once owned by in possession of the cloth merchant “Lucius Maticeus Clemens“ and shows very clearly the standard of living among Carnuntum’s middle class.

The villa urbana was a splendid city mansion and impressively traces the lifestyle of the Carnuntum upper class. The findings of about 30 sq. metres of luxurious wall paintings were especially remarkable.

The public baths cover an area of around 1,500 sq. metres. Approximately 1,200 cubic metres of material were used to rebuild the stone walls. All the work was carried out by hand. The biggest challenge was the reconstruction of the Roman heating system and supplying the pools with water. In order to display the furnishings and accessories, interdisciplinary research was necessary to draw an authentic picture of Roman life true to the smallest detail.
